During the electrical storm last Saturday evening lightning struck the ell of the H. Hartshorn's residence, came to the chimney and blew out the roof in kitchen and dining room. The roof on the roof near the chimney was blown off and one of the rafters splintered and a chamber. It entered the den, living room and hall and took off little pieces of paper and splinters of wood.

Mr. and Mrs. Rawson Lufkin and daughter Beatrice, Mrs. J. W. Nickerson, Mrs. Mary F. Nickerson and Miss Beatrice returned to Camp Quantabcock Wednesday afternoon to call on Wilbur Lufkin, who is staying at the summer. Searsport as well as Swanville can boast of some fine State roads. The ride from the village through the woods was most delightful and the scenery picturesquely. On the grounds there were blueberries and raspberries in abundance. Wilbur did not care to leave for any boy. The boys sleep in tents and each boy makes his own bed. One cottage affords a large living room with open fire, piano and pool table—"a place for everything and everything in its place." There is a counsellor to every three boys and bathing is enjoyed twice a day. At four o'clock the boys went in bathing and the guests were entertained by Mrs. Vickery on the piazza of her Camp Onondago, and treated to delicious home made candy which she made for the boys for clearing up drift wood and rocks in the lake front of her cottage.

MRS. LURA H. ALLAN.

The Big Timber, Mont., Pioneer of June 23rd has an obituary of Mrs. Lura H. Allan, who was born in Belfast, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Cunningham and the widow of Charles W. Haney, who died here July 13, 1889. The Pioneer says:

Mrs. Lura H. Allan, mother of Mrs. A. Whitney, passed away at the Whitney home Saturday morning, following an attack of apoplexy on Thursday evening. Episcopal burial service was read at the home Monday afternoon by Rev. C. P. Burnett. The floral offerings were exquisite. Interment was in Mountain View by the side of the husband of the deceased, who died the year they came here. Pallbearers were H. O. Kellogg, C. N. Skillman, G. H. Howard, F. R. Hickman, Lew Webb and C. C. Nelson.

Deceased was 72 years of age and a resident of Maine. Together with her husband she removed to California, coming here about six years ago with Mr. and Mrs. Whitney upon their return from a winter in California. About a year and a half ago she left for California for a visit with another daughter, returning about four weeks ago.

During her residence here she had been active in social and fraternal work, being the first president of the local society of the American Red Cross. As head of one of the greatest factors in winning the world war, she became acquainted throughout the county and won the praise and admiration of all by her indomitable energy and untiring efforts to make the local society an important part in the great work of American women.

A large quantity of delicious cake, etc., had been provided by interested friends and members of the church. These found a ready sale among the many visitors present. The ladies of the Circle are to be congratulated on the result of their effort.

THE PEACE RESOLUTION
The Senate and House settled their controversy over the peace resolution and concurred in declaring, by joint resolution, that the war between the United States and Germany was ended. This was merely a delayed statement of a fact which has been plainly evident for more than two years and a half.
The resolution contains a reservation clause which says that all property of the governments of the Central Powers or of their officers or nationals which has come into the possession of the United States or its agents since the respective declarations of war against those powers shall be retained by the United States until the governments of Germany and Austria-Hungary shall have made suitable provisions for the satisfaction of all just claims against them by persons owning permanent allegiance to the United States for loss or damage to persons and property through the acts of these governments or their agents. This reservation is all there is in the resolution which is of any great importance. It will follow, of course, that after conditions in this country and in Europe are well on the way towards the normal, there will be a treaty under the terms of which all these reparation matters will be settled. There is no need for haste in this because we have in possession all we shall ever get. Instead of turning the German property now in our hands over to the League of Nations and letting Europe make our settlement with Germany, we have wisely decided to make adjustment directly from our main office in Washington, D. C.

SUMMER-CAMP SCHOOLS
There are today about seventy summer-camp schools for young people on the lakes and seashore of the State of Maine. The occupants of these camps now number about four thousand boys and girls who have come here from other States for health, recreation and training. Those whose homes are near the ocean desire to go to our beautiful tree bordered lakes. Those who live in the interior seek a camp-school near the sea. Only a few weeks ago 120 young people came from Pittsburg, Pa. and went into camp in or near Rockland, and in one day about four hundred arrived in Portland en route to various camps in the interior of the State. Places for all who desire to come are not available and it seems safe to say that in a very few years the summer camp business can be more than doubled. Mr. J. V. Hutton is the agent of an Industrial Bureau which is maintained by the Maine Central Railroad and this Bureau is actively working to increase the number of these summer-camp schools. Mr. Hutton has been very successful in this work, having placed seven of them in one of the counties of the State and several in the other counties. He was in Belfast not long ago to make inquiries as to what suitable sites there were for camps in Waldo County. Those who have really desirable sites, ten or more acres in area, having good drainage and open level spaces for tennis courts and base ball grounds, on seashore or lake where there is a good beach for bathing are invited to call on the editor of The Journal for further particulars.

There has been a flood of oratory in Congress directed against reduction of our army. Distinguished army officers have insisted that if the army was reduced to 150,000 men, the service would be completely wrecked, and that it would be outrageous to disappoint an enlisted man by discharging him before his term of enlistment expired. After a long struggle the friends of economy routed the jingoes and passed a bill directing the Secretary of War to reduce the army to a "maximum of 150,000 men," the reduction to be completed October first of this year. Following the enactment of this bill it is already shown that a very large percentage of the enlisted men are sending in urgent requests for discharge. We find that in 1913, and for years prior to that time, the law provided that the total enlisted strength of our army should not at any time exceed 100,000 men. We also find that in 1913 the total enlisted strength of the army, staff and line, was 81,547.

quantities of their goods in this country. We believe they are mistaken. We believe the day has come when our producers on the farm and in the factory must either curtail production or search the whole world for customers, and perhaps may be compelled to do both. Germany must have more food than she can produce. She must have various raw products for her factories. Our people will sell their goods to the Germans and the Germans will sell their goods to our importers and we will buy them not knowing where they were made. In fact, that is what has been going on since early in 1919. In the fiscal year closing on June 30, 1921, we bought German goods to the value of $90,000,000 and sold goods to Germany to the value of $360,000,000. That volume of business with Germany has never been exceeded in any year except in 1914. From now on we shall be selling less and buying more from Germany every year.

Despatches from the recent Federation of Labor meeting at Denver told us that the Federation pledged its members, by resolution, to purchase only such manufactured goods as bore the union label. The passage of such a resolution, if such action was taken, is merely a straw showing that the wind of radicalism is rising. An attempt on the part of some four million people to boycott a hundred million other people would inevitably precipitate a counter boycott which would close the union shops, put the Federation of Labor out of business and make a union label as worthless as is Russian paper money in the United States.

Members of the Federation have a right to buy or refrain from buying goods with or without a label. They have the right to work or to be idle as long as they violate no law. But their rights are neither greater nor less than the rights of the other people of the United States, who outnumber them overwhelmingly. The sooner the radical labor leaders realize that the majority is going to rule this country the better it will be for organized labor. If they attempt to carry their proposed boycott into effect we believe that more than three-fourths of the members of the Federation will refuse to follow them. The average American workman is intelligent, conservative and honest.

The Executive Council has for the second time refused to confirm the appointment of Hon. Howard Davies as chairman of the public utilities commission. It is said that Governor Baxter urged the council to give its reasons for so doing, which the council declined to do.

Congress has voted to reduce the army by discharging 70,000 men from the army between now and the first day of October. That will save a million dollars a year.

FELKER-NICKELS
A romance of school days, which began at the State Normal School in the historic old town of Castine, reached its culmination Tuesday, June 28th, in the wedding of Miss Priscilla Alice Nickels of Searsport and Everett Joshua Felker of Monroe. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Wm. Vaughan, pastor of the church at East Belfast, the single ring service being used.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Nickels of Searsport, and the groom is the only son of Mrs. Ruth E. and the late Cyrus Edwin Felker of Monroe.

The bride is a well-known and accomplished young woman, a graduate of the Eastern State Normal school, class of 1914, and holds a very successful record as a teacher. In 1918 she was assistant in the Frankfort High school. In 1919-20, principal of the Junior High school at Brooks, from which position she resigned at the end of the fall term to accept a better position in the Bangor schools.

The groom is also a graduate of the Eastern State Normal school class of 1908, and is well known in educational and engineering circles in the State. He is one of the charter members of the Maine Society of Civil Engineers, and for a number of years has done considerable topographic work for the U. S. Geological Survey in the State. In 1920 he was employed by the State on construction of the new Belfast bridge, resigning from that position in September to accept a position as instructor in Civil Engineering at the University of Maine.

Following the ceremony the couple motored to Belfast, leaving on the Boston boat for a wedding trip to Boston and vicinity.

Gulls are now infesting the sea coast so that fishermen cannot leave bait in their boats with any hope of finding it, if left unguarded for a few moments. They will later eat the blueberries with the same avidity. But they also certainly act as good scavengers.

F. R. ADAMS

"I realize that I have reached the age (65) when one often requires fixing up. My digestion was not right and trouble with my Liver and Bowels caused considerable distress. I could not get rid of the Constipation; and the insufficient action of my bowels resulted in my blood absorbing the poisons. Last fall, I began taking 'Fruit-a-tives' or Fruit Liver Tablets, and after using them for a short time I could see they were just what my system required. My liver became active and improvement in every way was apparent. I doubt whether anyone could feel better than I do; and I am willing to give credit where credit is due, to 'Fruit-a-tives'." F. R. SEARSPORT
Parents wishing private instruction for their children during the summer months may apply to Miss Eleanor Closson.
Capt. and Mrs. Albert Blanchard and family have arrived from Brooklyn, N. Y., to spend the season at their summer home in Mt. Ephraim street.
Mr. and Mrs. James H. Duncan and daughter Martha have returned from a week's visit with relatives in Salem, Mass. They made the trip in their Peerless car, and were accompanied home by Miss Mary Jerome of Boston, who will be the guest of her aunt, Mrs. Frank Curtis, through the summer.
Amos D. Carver of New York has presented to the Carver Memorial Library a large bronze tablet in memory of his father, the late Capt. George A. Carver, born 1836, died 1908. Ship builder, ship master, ship owner. This library building was presented to the town of Searsport by his heirs, A. D. 1910.

Mrs. Andrew McGilvery Ross gave a very delightful bridge party on Friday afternoon, July 1, at her home in Main street entertaining the members of the White Elephant Auction Club and other friends. Big bunches of ox-eyed daisies decorated the living room and red clovers were used in the East room. Eight tables were filled for the game, and the first prize, a jar of guava jelly, was won by Mrs. Melvin B. Thompson, Mrs. E. D. P. Nickels receiving the consolation, a bottle of ketchup. Candies were on the tables and iced tea was served during the game. The guests besides those mentioned were Mrs. Joseph Curtis of Everett, Mass.; Mrs. Edward S. Calderwood of Roxbury; Mrs. Olive C. Atwood of Dorchester; Mrs. L. C. Havenor of Worcester; Mrs. Albert Colson of Brooklyn, N. Y.; Mrs. F. E. Harvey of Belmont, Mass.; Miss Alice Walker of Bangor; Mrs. Ellen L. Leib, Mrs. Harry Perry, Mrs. Cora Dow, Mrs. Fred Burr, Mrs. N. F. Gilkey, Mrs. Harold Cook, Mrs. C. N. Meyers, Mrs. Frank Curtis, Mrs. Henry G. Curtis, Mrs. B. F. Colcord, Mrs. J. W. Black, Mrs. William E. Grinnell, Mrs. Henrietta Young, Mrs. Joseph Sweetser, Mrs. William Goodell, Miss O. J. Lawrence, Miss Sally Dow, Miss Kathryn Dow, Miss Lucy Sargent, Miss Mabel Griffin, Miss Louise Dickerson Leib, Miss Jessie Nickerson, Miss Harriet Roulstone. After the game an informal business meeting was held, and it was voted to discontinue the White Elephant Club and to reorganize the Library Benefit Bridge Club of several years ago. This club was organized about 11 years ago, with Mrs. Ross as president, Miss Lida Curtis, vice president, and Miss Angeline Carver, secretary and treasurer. At each weekly meeting a fee of ten cents was paid by each member attending and the proceeds were devoted to the purchasing of books for the Carver Memorial Library. A part of the fund raised in this way still remains in the treasury. After three years the club was changed to a purely social club, with the name of the White Elephant Bridge Club. The members, old and new, have expressed their unanimous approval of the change back to the original purpose.

WILL NOT MEDDLE
Ambassador Harvey advised Europe that the United States would cooperate, but not meddle. Following this the Congressional leader of internationalism in this country, Senator Gilbert Hitchcock, became bitter in his denunciation of Harvey for presuming to indicate what should be the foreign policy of President Harding. On the day Hitchcock was accusing Harvey of presumption, Secretary of State Hughes wrote the Polish Minister relative to the Silesian Boundary dispute, in part as follows: "I have the honor to inform you that, in my opinion, the settlement of such boundary disputes as arise in the matter under consideration is a matter of European concern in which, in accord with the traditional policy of the United States, this Government should not become involved. The attitude of the Government in this matter is clearly understood by its representatives in Europe, who will, therefore, take no part in the discussions concerning Upper Silesia, and will give no opinion as to the settlement." So it seems that the foreign policy of the Harding Administration is fairly well understood by our representatives in Europe, whatever view Senator Hitchcock may take of it.—Courier-Gazette.

Booming Maine.

The Educational Meetings organized by the State Chamber of Commerce and Agricultural League in the different counties have, without exception, been a great success. The meetings have been held, thus far, in Cumberland, Kennebec, Penobscot, Washington and Lincoln counties. In every case the full seating capacity has been taken, and there has been a long waiting list. These meetings will continue in the fall.

The committees have already met in Androscoggin and Aroostook counties, and preliminary arrangements have been made. At every meeting the local organizations have co-operated and have selected the speakers. These county meetings have been in the interests of the State of Maine. The State Chamber of Commerce is following up these meetings by having special committees appointed to develop a State of Maine policy on important problems vital to the State's welfare.

The State Chamber of Commerce and Agricultural League has been organized but a short time, yet its influence is being felt throughout the State. The organization is regarded as one of the best in the country and the directors, of whom there are eleven in each county in the State, comprise some of the leading citizens of the State.

This is the first time in the history of Maine that the State has been represented by an organization which is qualified to represent all the different interests of Maine in any active way. The organization is non-political and non-sectarian, and is in a position to accomplish much good for Maine.

MRS. HARRIET E. COOMBS.

Mrs. Harriet Elizabeth Coombs died at her home at Lincolnville Beach June 25, after a long illness. She was born in Lincolnville, January 12, 1840, the daughter of Mary and Wm. Bragg, and after completing school was a teacher until her marriage January 9, 1858, to Jacob C. Coombs, who died seven years ago. They made their home at Lincolnville Beach, where she had spent practically her whole life. From this union there were six children—Mrs. Adelaide Hahn of Yonkers, N. Y.; George M. Coombs of New Haven, Conn.; John C. Coombs, who was lost at sea when 23 years of age; Mrs. Nellie A. Brown of Lincolnville; Ralph A. of Lincolnville and Mary H. Whitaker of Providence, R. I.; also nine grandchildren and five great grandchildren. When a young girl she joined the Baptist church and has always lived a true Christian life. She was a devoted wife and mother and her busy hands have done many loving deeds during her long and useful life. She will be greatly missed by her many relatives and friends, and throughout the whole community. She was a charter member of Beach Chapter, O. E. S., and many years ago was made an honorary member for life. Funeral services were held at her late home Tuesday afternoon, June 28, Rev. H. I. Holt of Camden officiating. The profession of beautiful flowers expressed the love and esteem in which she was held and much sympathy is extended to the bereaved family.—Camden Herald.

EXCELLENT ADVISE

President Harding, speaking to the students and graduates at the American University Commencement, gave his listeners some excellent advice. A brief synopsis of what he said is well worth reading and is as follows: "He warned students not to put too much trust in books or academic learning—that education was something never completed: 'The education that can truly prepare for the demands of society in the time before us can not be given merely in academic halls. The great world outside must contribute its practical experience, its intimate knowledge, its discipline and disappointments to complete the equipment. We can learn much from books, but if we learned only from books we would learn only the wisdom of the past. Books are tremendously useful if they make the servants of the inquiring mind; they may be deadening and worse than useless if they become the master of the too receptive mind. He who has learned how to use books, how to find what he requires in them and apply it, without the necessity of overloading his mind with unnecessary detail, is the one who has made his educational preparation most useful. As a mere storage warehouse for facts, beliefs, impressions, the human mind is an unsatisfactory plant. It is too liable to error and too limited in its capacity. But, on the other hand, when it is used as a macerator of information, a molding, developing, forming and reforming mechanism it does its best work."

OUR SCENIC JEWELS

The Giant Geyser, Yellowstone.

BY GILBERT GROSVENOR, President, the National Geographic Society, Washington, D. C.

The national parks of the United States, mecca for thousands of tourists this summer, contain more features of conspicuous grandeur than are accessible in all the other continents.

Leaving the masterful Mississippi valley and journeying westward, we soon enter the region of the national parks, of which there are nine of the first order: the Yellowstone national park, principally in Wyoming; the Glacier national park in Montana; the Rocky Mountain and Mesa Verde national parks in Colorado; the Crater Lake national park in Oregon; the Mount Rainier national park in Washington; the Yosemite and Sequoia national parks in California; and the Grand Canyon park in Arizona, the scenic masterpiece of the world, officially dedicated in 1909. Each park has its own individuality, and each in its specialty excels.

Foremost in interest in the Yellowstone are the geysers, of which "Old Faithful" ranks first, not because of size, for the Giant is a Goliath beside it; not because of beauty, for there are others more beautiful; but because of fidelity. It never disappoints. It is so regular that it could almost serve as the nation's standard time-piece. Every 70 minutes "Old Faithful" shoots its great column of water heavenward. At each eruption it sends up into the air 1,500,000 gallons of water.

One writer has described the geyser basins "as laboratories and kitchens, in which, amid a thousand retorts and pots, we may see Nature at work as chemist or cook, cunningly compounding an infinite variety of mineral messes: cooking mountains, boiling and steaming fountains to smooth paste and mush—yellow, brown, red, pink, lavender, gray and creamy white—making the most beautiful mud in the world, and distilling the most ethereal essences."

Glacier Park, Top of Continent.

The situation of Glacier national park is unique, in that it mothers streams which flow into three out of five of the earth's great oceans. It may well claim to be the top of the continent, for its rivers drain into Hudson bay and the Arctic ocean, into the Pacific, and through the Missouri and the Mississippi into the Atlantic.

The Glacier national park was made by the earth cracking in some far distant time and one side thrusting up and over-lapping the other. It has cliffs several thousand feet high, and more than sixty glaciers feed hundreds of lakes. One lake floats icebergs all summer. The scenery is truly Alpine.

Lake St. Mary's, Lake McDermott and Lake McDonald are the pearls of any of the mountain lakes of Switzerland and Italy. This park covers an area of 1,534 square miles, and maintains such an excellent chain of chalets, hotels and trails that the tourist can see its many attractions in comfort.

The Rocky Mountain national park straddles the continental divide at a lofty height, with snow-capped mountains extending from end to end. This park is in the heart of the Rockies northwest of Denver, with Long's peak as its center. It was established by congressional enactment in 1915. Estes park, the gateway to this mountain playground, is a beautiful little valley town nestled at the foot of the ridge, and yet itself more than a mile and a half above sea-level. Long's peak is nearly three miles high, and has several neighbors that run it a close second.

Home of the Aborigines.

The Mesa Verde national park hides in its barren canyons the well-preserved ruins of a civilization which passed out of existence so many centuries ago that not even tradition recalls its people.

Here one may study the modes of life of the prehistoric American as they can be studied in few places. These aborigines had their civic center and they had some progressive ideas in city planning. Community life was the order of those times. One house had 200 rooms for family use and 22 for worship. Another one sheltered 350 aborigines.

Mount Rainier seems to keep perpetual guard over Seattle, Tacoma and Olympia. Anyone who has beheld its many moods, who has watched the ever-changing picture as varying lights have played upon its summit, who has coasted on its glacial rivers, can understand why the Indians called it "Tahoma—the mountain that was god."

Mt. Rainier has a glacier system exceeding in size that of any other single mountain within continental United States. From its summit and cirques 25 named and a number of unnamed rivers of ice pour slowly down its sides. These rivers of ice have carved on what was once a perfect cone 14 valleys through the solid rock. A bird's-eye view taken from above the mountain would show it to be covered by an enormous frozen octopus, stretching its tentacles down among the rich gardens of wild flowers and through forests of fir and cedar.

Switzerland, the playground of Europe, visited annually (until 1915) by more than 100,000 Americans, cannot compare in attractiveness with the High Sierra of central California. Nothing in the Alps can rival the famous Yosemite valley, which is as unique as the Grand canyon. The view from the summit of Mt. Whitney surpasses that from any of the peaks of Switzerland.

Wonderful Birds and Flowers. And then, as to birds and flowers, the High Sierras so excel the Alps that there is no comparison. Never will the writer forget the melodies of the birds and the luxuriance of the meadows passed in the marches from Redwood Meadow to Mineral King, and then up over Franklin Pass; the fields of blue, red, yellow, orange, white and purple flowers, all graceful and fragrant, or the divine dignity of the great Siberian plateau, nearly 11,000 feet above the sea, and yet carpeted from end to end with blue lupine and tiny flowers.

From the educational point of view, the High Sierras so surpass the Alps that again no comparison can be made. In one day's ascent we observed fauna and flora to see the equivalent of which on the Atlantic coast we would have to make a journey of perhaps 1,500 miles. When we started in the morning we were hearing birds that correspond to the latitude of Charleston, S. C.; in a few hours we had traveled northward to Newfoundland and Labrador, and then descended to camp amid feathered friends whose counterparts are found around the writer's farm near Washington, D. C. A day later we ascended Mt. Whitney, the highest peak in the United States, and had a glimpse of birds of the arctic zone.

Oldest of Living Things. Within the boundaries of the Yosemite and Sequoia national parks tower the oldest of living things—the Sequoia gigantea.

It is an unusual experience to stand under these big trees, to gaze upon their stately proportions, to reflect upon the storms and stress they have survived, and to visualize the strange changes in human history that have taken place since they were seedlings. Long before Moses had led the Children of Israel out of Egypt, long before his brethren had carried back to their father Joseph's blood-stained coat of many colors, long even before the birth of the patriarch, whose children to remotest generations the Most High promised to bless, even before the aged pyramids had reared their heads on the banks of the Nile, long centuries before the hanging gardens of Babylon had been constructed, these trees had begun to grow.

Thousands of years the General Sherman tree has stood, offering its head to every passing thunder cloud; but so strong and sturdy is it that, like Ajax, it can defy the lightning.

The wonders of the Yosemite national park are easily accessible via the Yosemite valley, where accommodations are provided for every degree of income. Desmod camps and excellent government trails enable the visitor to see the giant trees, waterfalls, and canyons, while the more adventurous, who desire to ascend Mount Lyell and its magnificent neighbors, will find entertainment in Tuolumne meadows, at the hospitable headquarters of the Sierra club, an organization of mountaineers who have revealed the Sierra to the world.

Mr. and Mrs. Dexter Groves of Lynn, Mass., visited relatives in town for several days last week.

Mrs. W. A. Scripps of Altadena, Calif., was in town on Sunday from her old home in Frankfort, calling on Miss Mary Hichborn.

William H. Staples arrived Friday from Malden, Mass., for a visit with his mother, Mrs. Horace Staples and brother Plitner.

Stanley Healey was in town Friday and Saturday and about to sail for Coco Solo naval station to resume his duties as yeoman.

Andrew B. Berry motored to Rockland Saturday returning with his sister and husband, Mr. and Mrs. Oliver Lovejoy, for a brief visit with their parents over the Fourth.

Gerry Harding has gone to Gardiner where he has employment for the summer, and his family have left for their old home at Prospect Ferry to pass the month of July.

Mrs. C. W. Leach, who did a rushing business selling ice cream at the Searsport celebration on the Fourth, is making a bid for auto patronage brought past her door by the detour incident to the state road building.

Hosts of friends of the young couple are extending congratulations to Clifford Grant and Miss Emily McKee on their marriage, which took place in Searsport Tuesday evening at the home of the officiating clergyman, Rev. Harold LeMay.

Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Shute have moved back to their farm in Prospect, after having lived in the chambers of Mrs. Gardner's house for the past three years, while Mr. Shute had employment at the shipyard.

Mrs. Herman G. Hichborn, Dr. and Mrs. Everett Hichborn and Mr. and Mrs. Albert Ames of Cambridge, Mass., left in their car Tuesday morning of last week after a short vacation at the Hichborn summer home.

Wellington Glover of Quincy, Mass., a grandson of the late Joseph F. Frye, arrived from North Haven, where he had been the guest of friends for a fortnight, late Saturday night, and is the guest of his aunt, Mrs. Everett Staples.

John H. Gerrish, who recently returned to Bangor from Washington, D. C., where he has been studying chiropractic for the past six months, came down Saturday morning to receive a warm welcome from hosts of friends.

George S. Staples, agent of the M. C. R. R. at Pittsfield, motored to town Saturday afternoon for a timely visit at the home of his mother, Mrs. Horace Staples, accompanied by his daughters, the Misses Margaret, Elizabeth and Ruth. They returned home Sunday.

It is of great public concern that Harold Griffin has opened a shop in the Masonic building for plumbing and sheet iron work. Nine miles from a lemon is a situation which pales into insignificance beside being 4 miles from a plumber when a pipe bursts, to say nothing of the eternal inherent vagaries of stove pipes.

L. A. Gardner, who had been at Harrington for a fortnight in the interests of the Pelepecot Paper Co., was with his mother, Mrs. Carrie A. Gardner, over the Fourth, returning to Harrington late in the day. Mrs. Gardner and their daughter Elinor are spending a month with the former's sister, Mrs. B. J. Cox, in Wilton.

Mr. Knight is proving a worthy successor of Mr. Cummings at the Congregational church, so this village is fortunate indeed to have a religious revival in the hands of two "regular fellows" who are in a position to exert upon the younger generation an influence of which they stand in greater need than they now appreciate.

A long line of old friends were ready to greet Charles A. Snow with Mrs. Snow were in the village Saturday evening, passing the night with Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Fayle. Mr. Snow was on his way to Casine for a superintendents' convention and will shortly return to Richmond where he has been re-elected as superintendent of the union for the coming year.

Work on the State highway is in full swing, and the traffic is turned to a detour through Sandypoint village which

SICK KIDNEYS

MAKE LAME BACKS

Cause broken, unrefreshing sleep, and in many cases that tired feeling that makes it so hard to get up in the morning. They also cause loss of appetite, lack of ambition, and other troubles.

Hood's Sarsaparilla contains the medicinal herbs, barks, roots, etc., that strengthen and tone these organs, and relieve their ordinary ailments. Take it.

And if you need a laxative take Hood's Pills—they work right.

is partly State-aid road and partly plain road which has been recently graveled and put in shape for the purpose. The distance is increased only 2.7 miles, but many car drivers seem possessed to force a passage past the sign to a point where they meet trouble.

Mrs. Sarah Cheney Skolfield of Brunswick, widow of Capt. George L. Skolfield, whose recent death after a long illness was an irremediable loss to his family, friends and town, is in town for a fortnight, having arrived on Tuesday of last week. She is accompanied by her daughter Frances, Mrs. Lawrence Smith, and staying at the Misses Colcord's, and being warmly welcomed by the surviving friends of an earlier day.

The heavy showers of Saturday night were of much value to innumerable gardens in this vicinity. The hay crop is no longer a matter of speculation. It is practically a failure and cows will be offered at bargain prices this fall; but there is still hope for the gardens. In spite of the drought a number of strawberry growers have been able to market a fair crop, notably J. W. Lambert and Charles Grant.

Frank Moulton came from Boston to pass the holiday with his parents, accompanied by Mrs. Moulton, her mother, Mrs. Johnson, and their friends, Mr. and Mrs. John Smith. On the Fourth Mr. and Mrs. Henry S. Moulton, had a reunion of other members of their family by the presence of Mrs. Annie Verrill, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Rogers of Searsport, Mrs. Fred Black of Sandypoint and the numerous grandchildren of the family.

Rev. Klaas Oosterhuis, a native of Holland and a graduate of the divinity school of Tufts college, preached for the second time in the Universalist church on Sunday and was greeted by a congregation of generous size. Regular services will be held at 10.45 with Sunday school at 12. Mr. Oosterhuis, who prefers to be called by the English equivalent of Easternhouse, is a far less difficult young man than the text of his name might suggest. He has made a good impression, and being a mixer and a live wire will do much towards the rejuvenation of the parish.

Misses Inez Hanson, associated with her aunts, the Misses Decrow of West Upton, Mass., have bought a building 20x21 and two smaller buildings of the somewhat moribund Sandypoint Shipbuilding Corporation and had them floated around on scows to the head of Blanchard's cove, where they have been placed on foundations and will be converted to a summer cottage, which will be a substantial addition to the group which has made the locality famous. Having been a part of a "government yard" they were built and sold regardless of cost and are admirably adapted to the revised purpose and will be ready for a good time in everything.

The Current Events club outing and picnic dinner at the home of Mrs. Ernest A. Farris in the Louder Brook section on the 27th added another enjoyable incident to the history of the organization. The hostess for the day had her house prettily decorated and a long table stretched to accommodate the score of participants. An unexpected feature of the occasion was the singing of Mrs. Walter Simpson, whose voice and manner makes her no stranger to encomiums; and when she was joined in familiar songs by Madame Farris their duets were received with enthusiasm. A true voice at 70 is indeed rare.

A simple correspondent may nod—Jove did. And so his felicitations appear tardily for Minard N. Ellis and Miss Glynnie Emerson whose marriage took place in Bangor on June 30th with Rev. Roy M. Trafton as the officiating clergyman. Thus closes the first chapter of a fine little romance of a most estimable young woman and a veteran of the world war who chanced to be among the first men drafted from this town at the same time as his brother Allan, and who saw much service in hot corners attached to a machine gun company. The young couple have established themselves in a new home on Cape Jellison.

WINTERPORT

Rev. A. J. Lockhart has returned to his home in Springfield, Mass.

It is now definitely expected that the proceeds from the successful fair recently held, the proceeds to go to furnish the new library, will come close to $1,500. Much credit is due Mrs. J. W. Blaisdell of Belfast from whose efforts a large measure of its success resulted.

The death of Mrs. George Shaw occurred at her home Thursday after a long and painful illness. Besides her husband she left a son, Charles L. Whitney of Somerville, Mass., a brother, Charles Nason, also of Somerville. Her daughter-in-law, Mrs. Whitney, has faithfully cared for her over a year. The funeral services were held at the residence Saturday at 10.30. Sunrise Grange, P. of H., of which she has been an active member until her long illness prevented, attended in a body. Rev. Mr. Clark of Frankfort assisted Rev. C. A. Purdy, the officiating clergyman.

Mrs. J. W. Blaisdell of Belfast gave a banquet at the Bangor House Saturday to the committees and those who helped materially to make the library fair the success it proved to be. The delicious menu was much appreciated by her thirty guests. In the afternoon all attended the Bangor Opera House movies where she had secured seats for all. Those who went were Mrs. C. C. Moody, Mrs. F. T. Bussey, Mrs. G. H. Clements, Mrs. C. C. Clements, Mrs. R. L. Clements, Mrs. E. H. Clements, Mrs. Roy Cole, Mrs. John Cole, Mrs. Ellyery Bowden, Mrs. James Foley, Mrs. Philip Goodnow, Mrs. F. A. Low, Mrs. S. E. Littlefield, Mrs. Ida Lang, Mrs. T. G. California Wants Your Money

A California Writer in urging California people to invest in California hydro-electric companies said:

—every dollar a Californian places in this stock brings three dollars of Eastern or foreign money into California, when this outside money does come to us, it brings Eastern or outside people, who in turn bring additional industries.

Are YOU one of those== prodigal 'Easterners' who is sending "Eastern money" to California—to attract industries, population, and wealth TO CALIFORNIA?

Or are you one of the growing number of loyal Maine men and women who are investing in Maine hydro-electric companies to bring factories, population, lower taxes and prosperity to the Pine Tree State?

Western States will bid high for your money for they need it. But will you profit most by investing to insure Western prosperity or by investing in Maine to insure your own?

Exceptional safety, a fair yield, tax exemption and a chance to put your money to work building Maine is offered by an investment in Central Maine Power Company 7% Preferred Stock.

The price is $107.50 a share; the yield is 6 1-2% net.

of the State, will complete fifty-one years
active practice on July 14th, forty-nine of which have been in Belfast. He was educated in the public schools of Vassalboro, Colby College and Dartmouth College and took his M. D. degree at the Maine Medical College. He has a large practice.Mrs. Ruth Berry of Winterport has been notified that the body of her husband, Corporal Benjamin Berry, will arrive at New York about July 11th. Corp.
Berry was the son of Ruel Berry of Newburg and was killed at Chateau Thierry in July 1913. This is the second Waldo county boy to be brought home from the battlegrounds of France.News was received here Monday of the death of William M. Rhoades of Portland, formerly of this city and a native of Northport. He was ill only a week with ptomaine poisoning. Mr. Rhoades was frequently in Belfast as he had travelled many years for a Milwaukee Flour Co.
He had many friends in this vicinity.
His remains were taken to Braintree,
Mass., for interment.A real reunion of the old Second Maine, 103rd Infantry will be held at Camp Keys, Augusta, Wednesday and Thursday, July 20th and 21st. Gen.
Edwards, Gen. Cole, Col. Hume and Gov. Baxter will be present. There will be a regimental review, sports and a banquet. There were at one time 8,000 members of the 103rd, but the addresses of only 2,600 are known but all members are invited to be present and this invitation includes all members of the Old Second Maine which went to Mexico in 1916.The electrical shower last Saturday night was the most severe for many seasons. Rain fell in torrents with sharp lightning and very heavy thunder almost continuous for over an hour. Lightning struck the cross on the top of the spire of the St. Francis Catholic church on Court street, shattering it and scattering sections all over the lawn. One piece struck the hard pine steps in the front of the church with such force as to damage them. A piece of the upright part of the cross four feet in length and four inches thick was hurled over the lawn to the door of the vestry in the rear of the church. The bolt ran down the top section of the spire tearing off the side finch and then changed its course and came out of the window in the second section completely shattering the outside blind.
The summer residence in Swanville of Mr. and Mrs. Zenas D. Hartshorn of this city was struck in the same shower and every room in the house with the exception of those occupied by Mr. and Mrs.
Hartshorn and their daughter Martha was more or less injured.Mr. and Mrs. Ralph D. Southworth have announced the engagement of their daughter, Martha E. to Edward Sullivan of Portland. Miss Martha arrived recently from Portland and will remain here until her wedding, which takes place early in September.It is generally claimed that mourning doves are not seen in this vicinity, but we are pleased to bring proof to the contrary as George, the son of Rev. and Mrs. Adolph Rossbach, now at Pitcher's Pond, has recently seen a pair. The little lad is a born naturalist and already an authority on flowers, birds, butterflies and the like.Mrs. Ettie S. Fletcher has in her possession a mutilated bank note of interest.
It was issued Aug. 5, 1850, by the Exchange Bank of Virginia, which promised to pay $20 to the bearer at its banking house in Norfolk. The bill was numbered 1921 bearing the signatures of G. W.
Mark, president, and C. B. Camp, cashier. The bank then had a capital of $1,- 800,000. Its establishment consists of Indian scenery, canoe, full rigged ship
and photos of Washington and Adams.Two members of Belfast Boy Scouts, Troop Three, with George H. Robertson, leader, have made record hikes the past week. David F. Hoxie, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Hall F. Hoxie, who moved to Auburn several months ago, still retains his membership in the Belfast Troop and is spending a week here. He left Auburn Tuesday morning with a twenty-pound pack and arrived here last Thursday morning. He slept both nights alone out of doors, but did take a ride a part of the way between Lewiston and Augusta.
A cordial welcome awaited Dave when he arrived as he was a first class and popular Scout. John A., the little son of Dr. and Mrs. Orris S. Vickery, has also passed his test as a first class scout, and one of his recent tests would have drawn on the courage of a much older lad. He hiked seven miles into the country, with a fifteen-pound pack and slept alone in a cow pasture. He also prepared his own supper and breakfast.Mrs. Alton Ridley has received a letter from her brother, Victor M. Colson, from the U. S. N. Ammunition Dept. at Puget Sound, Wash., under date of June 25th.
He was recently transferred from the U. S.
S. S. New York to the Naval Magazine
Dept., having been on the ship for nearly four years, 13 months of which he was on duty with the American Squadron in the North Sea. He has received a grand fleet medal for service rendered. For the past two years he has been on the Pacific Coast. Just before leaving the New York
he was guest of honor at a dinner given by the Pharmacists, R. M. Porter, U.S.N., at the latter's home on South Pacific street, San Pedro, Calif. Covers were laid for eight including members of Mr.
Porter's family and several hospital corps
men, with whom he had been on duty.
He was associated with Mr. Porter since September, 1919. His new duties are clerical, consisting mainly of dispensing drugs and first aid with a detachment of 45 marines and 127 civilians. He is looking forward to a furlough next September and will visit his home in Belfast for the first time since 1916.In a personal letter dated June 6th Dr.
Stanley D. Wilson of Peking, China, gives the following encouraging report of the famine situation in North China:"The recent heavy rains have been of great value to the country and I believe that we can safely look forward to fairly good crops this summer. Of course there is still much suffering but not anywhere near as much as there has been during the winter months. The early crops are now ripening and the people will soon be able to feed themselves. Much of the famine relief this year has been furnished in a manner that will be of permanent value to the country. Labor has been employed on road building and the digging of wells, etc. This has been especially true of the American part of the famine relief. We are in hopes there may never be another famine as severe as the one we have just passed through. The opening of roads and railroads will make it easier to feed the people of one section from another section in the future and their lands and thus escape the rigors of the droughts in the future.The political conditions here now seem a little more settled and I think that we will probably get through the summer with no very serious trouble. The military leaders have been furnished money
to meet their present needs and, therefore, there is no need of their fighting
one another. I believe that gradually China is going to get herself out of her present troubles and in condition to take some her rightful place in the world."

lar superintendent of the Waldo County

tion. Miss Wescott is a graduate of the school and a former teacher. Miss Mary Shields, R. N., of Yarmouthport,
Mass., a graduate of the Massachusetts
General Hospital, is substituting at the Hospital during Miss Wescott's absence.The Bangor Commercial of July 7th has an interesting article on B. H. S.
graduates of thirty years ago, who have made good. Many occupy prominent places in business and the professions
here and elsewhere. Among the brief sketches of the graduates we find the following, well known here as former residents:One of the most prosperous members of the class is Ralph A. Peavey, who has made a fortune out west. He was one of the live wires of the class. Every summer he comes from Dallas, Texas, with his mother and sister, Eva, to their summer home in Belfast. Eva was one of the bright students of the class.The only minister of the class is Rev.
Eugene S. Philbrook, who is well known here, as he visits here frequently. He is a pastor of a flourishing Baptist church in the vicinity of Boston and was, at one time pastor in the Belfast and Augusta churches. He was a member of Columbia Street Baptist church while in Bangor, and is regarded highly by those who know him. He has a sister in Bangor, Miss Beulah Philbrook, who is agent for prevention of cruelty to animals. His parents, Mr. and Mrs. P. J. Philbrook, live in Brewer.Vitagraph studios at Hollywood, Cal., became a small city during the filming of the big special production, "Black Beauty," which will be shown at Colonial Theatre, Wednesday, July 20th. A blacksmith shop, school, hairdresser, harness
maker, wheelwright, stables, dressmaker,
carpenter, electrician, feed store and administration building were among the establishments made necessary by the magnitude of the production. A number of doctors and veterinary surgeons were in constant attendance during the production. A large force of clerks were constantly engaged keeping record of costumes, film, scenes taken, footage used,
purchases made and equipment available.
A score of location finders searched California for unusual spots and were busy until this film was nearly finished. Director David Smith worked early and late to get unusual effects. Some times
the company worked during the night,
from sunset until sunrise and then there would be a period of working from sunrise to sunset. With everything moving at record speed it required over four months to produce the big spectacle.CHAUTAUQUA A GREAT SUCCESS.
Community Chautauqua week opened in the big tent on the Court street side of school common Tuesday evening with the Syracuse Varsity Quartet. The ten was practically filled and the audience
for the first night the most enthusiastic to meet these regular summer friends.
The quartet consists of John A. Carey, baritone, at one time of the famous 108th Infantry quartet; Vincent V. Rogers, second bass; J. Sherman Schoonmaker, second tenor and pianist, and D. W.
Murphy, tenor and manager. The program consists of bright parodies, old time songs, and original jokes, given in genuine glee club style by college men. The camp fire scene featuring songs with banjo interludes was very effective and natural. In fact they were natural and original and consequently entertaining.
Wednesday afternoon and evening the novelty entertainment is by the Arion artists with lecture at 8:45 on "Quit Feeling the Buck," by Sherman Rogers.
Thursday the New Englanders will furnish the musical program, with Brush
the great magician in a program of
"Magic, Mirth and Mystery." Friday
the International Concert Party will give the musical program at 2:30 and 8:00 p. m., while at 8:45 Strickland Gillilan will give a humorous lecture on "Just Believe Yourself." Saturday at 2:30
"Mother" Lake will speak on the "Divine Rights of the Child" and at 8
p. m. there will be the dramatic production, "The Cinderella Man," by a cast of New York players. Sunday the Princess Nacomee Company with a lecture by Chief Tahan will furnish the unique Indian program. The Junior Chautauqua program is nearly a continuous one with sports, stunts, stories and the scenic pageant, The Cruise of the Jollity, Saturday afternoon. Parents can trust their children for all of these features. The children's parade Tuesday evening was a pleasing feature.
Practically all of the course tickets were sold the first night. Don't miss this opportunity.Mr. and Mrs. W. S. Roberts of Reading, Mass., with friends are at Bayside

land, has been in Belfast the past week

Rico, with her daughter, Mrs. Amos J.

daughter, Mrs. Avis M. Morison of Springfield, Mass., while en route home.In a home letter Frank W. Twombly of Cincinnati, Ohio, son of Charles H.
Twombly of this city, says of another Belfast boy, Capt. Albert W. Stevens:
"As I told you, I am one of the committee to run the public park in our district
this summer and we had a fine program for the Fourth, but the King B. stunt was pulled off by Bert Stevens, who was the guest at our home. Bert phoned me from Dayton that he would arrive at 10:30
a. m. the Fourth and for me to pick out a landing field and mark it with white sheets as he and a pilot were going to fly down and that Capt. and Mrs. Wheeler would come by auto. I made all arrangements and at 10:45 Bert put in an appearance. When at an altitude of 5,000 feet he crawled out on the wing and jumped off with a parachute landing in a corn field a short distance from the house.
His pilot, Lieut. Tyndall, landed the machine at the field. It had some thrills for the people in this part of the country."CHANGES IN MAINE FISH LAWS. The following is of local interest in the private and special fish laws passed by the last Legislature which became effective last Saturday:
"In the brooks, streams and rivers of the State, above tidewaters, the annual closed season on trout, salmon and landlocked salmon shall be from Sept. 15th to the time the ice is out of the brook, stream
or river fished in the following spring,
and on black bass and white perch from Sept. 15th until June 20th of the following year; except in Moose river, between Brassua lake and Moosehead lake, it shall be unlawful to fish in the spring until May first, and it shall be lawful to take landlocked salmon and trout in the ordinary way of casting with artificial flies,
from Sept. 15th to Sept. 30th, both days
inclusive, in said portion of Moose river,
and except in the county of Waldo, the annual closed season in the brooks and streams on landlocked salmon, trout and togue, shall be from July 15th to the time
the ice is out of the brook or stream fished in the following spring."It will be noted by the above amendment that an exception is made in the case of that portion of Moose River between Brassua lake and Moosehead lake and that a special law applies to all the brooks and streams in Waldo county, all former special regulations on brooks and streams in the county having been repealed. Consequently in the county of Waldo the closed season hereafter, until the law is changed, will be from July 15th until the ice is out of the brook or stream fished in the following spring.

THIS MAN DAWES

Again has President Harding made an excellent appointment. The man for Director of the Budget is Charles G. Dawes of Chicago, the direct, hard hitting and, yes, profane Mr. Dawes. The same General Dawes who gave one congressional investigating committee the thrill of his collective lives.

The country took great pleasure in listening to Mr. Dawes in that famous "Hell-and-Marie" session. He had some biting things to say about the petty pettifoggery that abides in Washington. His indictment of waste, extravagance and general governmental inefficiency was a classic. He appointed a good many heads with sulphuric acid.

General Dawes has a record that does its own talking; but at that his troubles are about to begin. He is to "take up arms against a sea of troubles."

There is no wail more piercing and poignant than the scream of a political appointee about to be sundered from the pay roll. There is no fury more furious than that of a department head who finds his estimates slashed, macerated and amputated.

Down in Washington "the boys" haven't been taking this budget very seriously. All along they have admitted that it, looked pretty and "listened well," but the bureaucrats embedded in their bomb proofs smiled cynically, doing whatever it is that bureaucrats do. It has been regarded generally as another one of those "things that won't work."

They are not so sure now. This man Dawes is a disconcerting person. He is a rough-and-tumble fighting man who shoots from the hip. The congressional record of his testimony before the War Investigation Committee is being looked up and studied.

If the present budget machinery is workable, Director Dawes will make it work. If it is not workable, he will say so in ways that will leave no doubt of his meaning.

If there is interference, thimble-rigging or pettifoggery, the offenders are likely to find themselves embalmied for public defilement in words that scorch and bite.—Philadelphia Pub Ledger.

THE MAN AND HIS JOB

If a man cannot recover his job, can he recover for his job? In Chattanooga, a former employee of the Southern Railway is suing the Brotherhood of Railway Trainmen, asking $3,000 damages because, he alleges, at the instance of the union he was discharged on account of being a non-union laborer, lost his remunerative job and suffered other and attendant losses by reason of being "fired." Two important points—new in the courts of Tennessee and probably many other States—are to be settled by this suit. Whether a non-union man discharged at the instance of the union has any rights of recourse at law and whether a union, such as the brotherhood against which this former railroad employee has lodged formal legal complaint, may be sued for monetary damages in such circumstances.

If it is decided that the corporate union is on the same footing as any other corporation, then it this non-union man shows that he lost his means of earning a livelihood from the railroad mentioned through no failure on his own part to do his duty, but solely at the instance and insistence of the labor union why should he not ask the courts to force this union to make good to him such loss as he may have suffered? The union cannot consistently place the burden upon the railroad company, because, according to the allegations, the union demanded the discharge of the non-union worker, threatened to strike and actually refused to work for the company if he were not discharged.

Rights and liabilities go together. This case is the case of the rights of a free workman against the liability of a legally incorporated organization of other workmen.—Bangor Commercial.

JAPAN AND THE MONROE DOCTRINE

Japanese statesmen have frequently alleged that if the United States can properly have and enforce a Monroe doctrine for the Americas, Japan can, with equal propriety, set up and enforce a Monroe doctrine for Asia.

Nothing would please the American people better. The Monroe doctrine is that we should consider it an "unfriendly act" for any non-American country to attempt by force to occupy any territory within the boundaries of any established American state. It is a protective doctrine. We make no charge for it, and claim and get no compensation whatever. We ask for no "concessions" of any kind. Trade on equal terms is open, so far as we are concerned, to all the world. If, in pursuance of treaty rights, we interfere to maintain internal order, we leave as soon as order is restored. We control no "ports." We let the people build their own railroads or go without them. If our citizens go to those countries or invest money in them, they are subject to local law.

If Japan would set up that kind of a doctrine for Asia, beginning with the abandonment of its own special claims of every kind, leaving in particular the Chinese to do precisely what they please with their own country, the people of the rest of the world would most heartily rejoice.—San Francisco Chronicle.

WILL PREVENT MUCH SICKNESS.

These enervating days are fraught with danger to people whose systems are poorly sustained. This leads the makers of Hood's Sarsaparilla to say, in the interest of the least robust, that the full effects of this good old family medicine justifies calling it, not only a blood-purifier but also a tonic. It is sustaining. It gives strength, aids digestion, promotes refreshing sleep, and will prevent much sickness at this time of year.

Hood's Pills, which are gentle and thorough, may be taken with it, in cases where there is need of a cathartic or laxative.

OLD CARLYLE HOUSE

OF ITS UNMATCHED historical associations, is the venerable home of John Carlyle, who came to America as collector of customs for the British Crown.

It is located near the Potomac river in Alexandria, Virginia, which settlement was at that time a sort of American headquarters for the British empire. It was built in 1752, on top of an old fort which it is thought was constructed about the year 1690.

Solidly built of cut stone which it is believed was brought from England, the walls of this two-story and basement house are wonderfully well preserved and much of the interior furnishings remain but little unchanged from the days when this was the scene of much old-fashioned hospitality.

In the hallway stands a slender, grandfather's clock which for more than a century recorded the passing of time. Upstairs is the ancient canopy bed, so high that a step was necessary to enable one to comfortably climb into it, in which slept General Braddock who was sent to this country to take charge of the British forces during the French and Indian wars.

It was in the blue-room of this mansion that the celebrated and historic Council of the Governors of the Colonies was held, which contributed so much to the growing discontent that later expressed itself in the Revolutionary war.

General George Washington frequently visited here and it is said that his commission as commander in chief of the Colonial army was handed to him in this house.

MRS. MARY E. PACKARD

Mrs. Mary E. Packard died at the home of her daughter, Mrs. H. D. Crie, 233 Broadway, Reckland, at 9 p. m. Thursday, June 30th. Mrs. Packard was the wife of Edward Packard of Searsmont, where they lived until Mr. Packard's death thirteen years ago, since then she has made her home with her daughter, Mrs. Crie. She had always found great pleasure in returning to her old home in Searsmont, passing many enjoyable weeks each year with her stepdaughter, Mrs. Frank Rokes, and among other relatives and friends. She had always looked forward to the annual visit to her native town where she found love and happiness awaiting her. Words cannot express the ideal character of this lovely life. She devoted her entire time to her family, relatives and friends and to her God. Only those most intimately acquainted with her can appreciate this untiring service. She leaves to mourn their loss her daughter, Mrs. Horatio Crie, who is her only child, two stepchildren, Mrs. Frank Rokes and Joseph Packard of Searsmont, three brothers, Henry, Charles and George Ladd, three sisters, Mrs. Nettie Hunt, Mrs. Nellie Fowles, Mrs. Fred Sturtevant and ten grandchildren. The funeral was held in the Methodist church in Searsmont, where she had long been a faithful member and an active worker, Sunday afternoon, July 3rd.

EXPECT HALF HAY CROP

Commissioner of Agriculture Frank P. Washburn said Friday that on account of the dry weather, he believed that the hay crop for this year would not be over 50 per cent. of a normal harvest. However, Mr. Washburn thought that the crop in Aroostook would be normal, because of the fact that the dry weather does not seem to affect the Aroostook soil as much as it does in other sections of the State.

Commissioner Washburn further stated that there would be about a 30 per cent. of the strawberry crop on account of the scarcity of rain, but that he did not think that the blueberry crop would be affected very much.

Commissioner Washburn also said that he did not think that the potato crop has been damaged and that there will be an average yield.

The New Chief Justice of the Supreme Court of the United States.

Chief Justice Taft.

President Harding's nomination of William H. Taft to the vacant post of Chief Justice of the Supreme Court of the United States has met general expectation. The name of the ex-President has been the most prominently mentioned in connection with the office since the death of Chief Justice White, who, it may be recalled, owed his appointment to his successor in the post when the latter was President. The new Chief Justice, who is in his sixty-fourth year, was a judge of the Ohio Superior Court thirty-four years ago and later Solicitor General of the United States and Federal Circuit Court Judge. In the intervals of legal and judicial work he was Dean of the Law School of the University of Cincinnati, president of the Philippine Commission and Civil Governor of the islands. He served as Secretary of War under President Roosevelt, whom he succeeded as Chief Executive, and after leaving the presidency became a professor of law at Yale, and was chosen president of the American Bar Association. During the war he was co chairman of the National War Labor Board, on leave of absence from Yale, returning to his professorship after the board was dissolved. Because of his well-known judicial habit and temper, he has been chosen as arbitrator in many important controversies, indeed, he was serving in such a capacity in Canada when news of his appointment and confirmation reached him. His legal training and experience, broadened by his service in many public capacities, including the highest office in the country, give promise of a fruitful career as head of the country's greatest tribunal.

Boothbay camp for boys and Merry-meeting camp for girls, both on the Kennebec, the former on an island just above the Narrows, Bath, and the latter at the Chops, lower end of Merry-meeting bay, are open for the season. They are always of interest to travelers up and down the river, the young people giving every evidence of thoroughly enjoying their summer outing. Over 70 boys and 60 girls are expected for this season. Most of the girls are from Cincinnati and the boys are also from Ohio.

We print it right here that if you don't know the "feel" and the friendship of a joy'us jimmy pipe—GO GET ONE! And—get some Prince Albert and bang a howdy-do on the big smoke-gong!

For, Prince Albert's quality—flavor—coolness—fragrance—is in a class of its own! You never tasted such tobacco! Why—figure out what it alone means to your tongue and temper when we tell you that Prince Albert can't bite, can't parch! Our exclusive patented process fixes that!

Prince Albert is a revelation in a makin's cigarette! My, but how that delightful flavor makes a dent! And, how it does answer that hankering! Prince Albert rolls easy and stays put because it is crimped cut. And, say—oh, go on and get the papers or a pipe! Do it right now!

American Ships Now Sail Seven Seas

Twin Bed Staterooms, Private Baths and Nurseries for the Children. Give Hints of Luxuries Provided on Ships of the New American Merchant Marine.

ANYWHERE in the world on an American ship, Americans are going home. They no longer need go to sea or ship their goods in foreign bottoms sustained if it is to be permanent. That, today, is the proud message declares Rear Admiral W. S. Benson, Chief of the United States Shipping Board, to the American people.

From every port in the country now sail stately and luxurious vessels, under the American flag, carrying passengers and cargo to every country in the globe. The nation, through the United States Shipping Board, is flinging a new Declaration of Independence to the world, independence of foreign vessels, for American travelers and commerce.

With a proud merchant fleet numbering 3,700 vessels of 19,333,830 deadweight tons (not including the small ships), according to official figures compiled to May 1, it is now the largest fleet of the United States to keep that fleet on the seven seas. Of this great total the United States Shipping Board owns and controls 1,129 vessels of 11,129,466 deadweight tons.

"We must take the huge corporation, the largest the world has ever known, and make it an institution of which every American will be proud," declares Albert D. Lasker.

SPRAGUE'S JOURNAL OF MAINE HISTORY.

The second number of the ninth volume of this interesting and valuable Maine publication is now at hand. John Gardiner Barrister, a noted son of the famous Dr. Silvester Gardiner, for whom the city of Gardiner was named, by Bertram E. Packard of Sanford, is the leading article. A graceful and fine appreciation of the late James P. Baxter by the editor, poem by Arthur W. Stewart of Augusta and Helen L. Worcester of Bangor; sketches by Florence Whitcomb Thompson, Robert R. Gardiner, and the instructive Maine history school department edited by Dr. A. O. Thomas with illustrations, make an interesting volume.

Maine's Apple Crop.

It is interesting to note that reports from V. A. Sanders, New England statistician of the Federal Bureau of Crop Estimates, indicate that the apple crop of Maine shows better prospects than that of any other State in the country.

AIM TO PREVENT PLANT DISEASES

Much Could Be Saved to Future Crops if Care Is Taken to Avoid Infected Plants.

CROP ROTATION IS HELPFUL

Setting of Few Clubrooted Plants May Give Start That Will Ruin Garden for Years—Wilt Is Easily Transmitted.

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)
What a lot might have been saved if we could have applied to crop rotation 20 years ago what we know about the control of plant diseases. And equally true, what a lot we could save in future crops if we would only apply the knowledge that we have. "Future crops" is written directly for the introduction of a disease into new soil may affect for years to come the crops planted on it. Unless radical and extensive measures are taken to eradicate the disease from the soil, say specialists of the United States Department of Agriculture.

Infests Soil for Many Years.
Take, for example, the case of clubroot of the crucifers; i. e., cabbage, cauliflower, mustard, etc. The setting of a few clubrooted plants may give start that in a single season will cause for years an otherwise good piece of soil unsuitable for cabbage and other crucifers. A case is known in which a cabbage patch in Pennsylvania was abandoned 27 years ago because of the prevalence of clubroot. The cabbage was again planted the next year and was badly affected. The disease another to be used for seed. Too late it was discovered that the potatoes were infested with root-knot producing elworms, which were, of course, scattered far and wide by this means. While this may not have been the first introduction of the disease into that state, it was at least one of many introductions which have resulted in the wider and wider spread of root-knot and the loss of millions of dollars.

Set Only Clean Plants.

Tomatoes, tobacco, celery, peppers, figs, peaches, and many other plants are likewise instrumental in carrying this disease. As indicated by the name, its principal manifestation is on the roots of plants in the form of swellings or knots. Severe infestation will result in the yellowing and dwarfing and often the death of the plant.

Wilt constitute another group of diseases that may be transmitted to new soil by means of diseased plants. They are manifested by a wilting of the whole plant. These, and the ones referred to above, may be and ought to be kept out of new land. The way to do it is to set out only clean plants.

The way to keep the plants clean is to sterilize the seed beds. If steam pressure is available, the inverted-pail method described in Farmers' Bulletin 990 is best. Such steam pressure may often be had in the greenhouse from the boiler used for heating. For outside seed beds any kind of a steam boiler, either on a stationary outfit or a steam traction engine, will furnish plenty of pressure. If steam pressure is not available, good results can be accomplished by the hot-water treatments advocated in Department Bulletin 818.

GET CUSTOMERS FOR PARCEL POST TRADE

Write to Relatives and Acquaintances in Cities.

Many People Will Not Order Farm Produce From Strangers Because They Do Not Know of Conditions of Production.

For producers who wish to market by parcel post the most satisfactory way of finding customers is to write to friends, relatives, or acquaintances in cities, seeking their trade, say specialists of the bureau of markets, United States Department of Agriculture. Purchasers, on the other hand, often can locate reliable producers by correspondence with friends, relatives, or acquaintances in the country. More than 75 per cent of the produce being marketed by parcel post in a number of cities in which investigations have been made is sent by persons who obtain their customers in this way.

Making business contact is less difficult between friends because there is an absence of the suspicion and distrust that sometimes is found between strangers. Many persons will not order farm produce from strangers because they do not know the conditions under which the articles are produced, it is said.

Although ways of obtaining customers are numerous, no method is so promising as that of working up a trade with or through friends. This method of establishing business relationship is especially recommended for the general farmer who has a limited amount of produce. Those who wish to market a great deal of produce by parcel post may find it necessary to obtain customers by personally soliciting strangers or through advertising in newspapers and by other public means. Another method is to write to friends in the city, asking for a list of acquaintances who would probably be interested in receiving table supplies by parcel post.

Miss Jennison's mother was Miss Henrietta K. Nickels of Searsport.

Many are the words of praise spoken of the fine work done by the Searsport Band at the Fourth of July celebration. It seems to be the unanimous opinion of the townspeople that such an aggregation of musicians should not be allowed to disorganize. A permanent organization of the kind would be a benefit in many ways, and material for an excellent band is undoubtedly to be had. Funds will be needed, however, for such a purpose, and plans are already under way for a big band benefit to be given early in August. The entertainment will probably take the form of a vaudeville show, and will be under the direction of Miss Louise Dickerson Leib. It is hoped and believed that the public will come forward and help the band boys.

Rev. Charles F. Robinson, representing the Bangor Theological Seminary, spoke at the morning service at the First Congregational church on Sunday, in the interests of the Seminary Endowment Fund. Mr. Robinson proved an interesting speaker and presented his subject to his hearers in a forceful manner. Searsport people are interested in the Thomas P. Williams Memorial Fund, which it is the purpose of the committee to raise in the towns where Mr. Williams served as pastor. Already good sized amounts have been raised in Winslow, where he preached for 17 years, and in Houlton, where he was located for 10 years. The Searsport Congregational church of which he was pastor for 7 years, will be asked to contribute to the fund, the interest of which is to be used for the expenses of the seminary. Mr. Williams was a trustee of that institution, and was always vitally interested in its welfare.

News has been received here of the death of a former Searsport man, Edward A. Noyes, a prominent citizen of Portland, Oregon. Mr. Noyes died June 25th at his home at 155 North 22nd street, Portland. He was 66 years of age, and although he had been totally blind for 32 years, he was cheerful and optimistic to the last.

He was early day transportation man for the Columbia River district, and was widely known throughout the Columbia River territory by all the ship operators and traders of the river school. He was born in Searsport in 1855, the son of the late Captain Allen and Sarah (Stetson) Noyes. He was educated in Searsport high school and Bucksport seminary and was married Sept. 29, 1894, to Miss Ada B. Pendleton, daughter of the late Capt. Charles and Sarah (Park) Pendleton. His widow, two sons, Dr. Allen P. Noyes of Portland, Oregon, and Major Edward Noyes of the army medical corps, stationed at San Francisco, and a daughter, Mrs. Leigh Bennett of Hood River, Oregon, survive him.

In 1868 he sailed with his father, Capt. Allen Noyes, in the bark Alden Besse for Portland via China. He had resided in Portland ever since. While his father voyaged back and forth on various windjammers and commanded the barks Alden Besse and Coloma, the original boats plying between Portland and China, Edward Noyes completed his education at the old Bishop Scott Academy, and entered upon his career as a traffic man. He was agent for the old Oregon Steam Navigation Company and remained as the Astoria head of the concern until the company was absorbed by the Oregon Railroad & Navigation Co. He remained in this position until his eyesight failed. For a number of years after he became totally blind he conducted an exporting business, but retired about 20 years ago.

Mr. Nutter has been aided in this work by Rev. Mr. Raven, Rev. Mr. Ellis and others. There was a baptism at Ford's Corner, Palermo, Sunday, July 3d.

The fourth passed off quietly here. Some of the people went to Albion and other places to the celebrations. Those who remained at home were entertained in the evening by watching the searchlights displayed across the sky from the battleship which lay in Rockland harbor. Those who knew what it was enjoyed it, while others were frightened, as they could not account for the strange and beautiful sight. The fireworks at Camden could also be seen here but not as plainly as the searchlights.
